

Requirements for Photography Businesses

In addition to the Healthy at Work Minimum Requirements, photography businesses must meet the requirements below in order to reopen and remain open:

Social Distancing Requirements

- Photographers should avoid photographing groups outside of family units and in no case groups larger than ten individuals as long as mass gatherings remain prohibited.
- Photographers should remain six feet or farther from all subjects and employ zoom settings for up-close photographs.
- Subjects who are not living in the same household must pose at least six feet or farther apart (i.e. persons living in different households should not pose next to one another).
- Photography sessions should be held outside unless an in-studio session is absolutely necessary.
- Photographers should ensure, to the greatest extent practicable, that all scheduling, communication, preview of photographs, and payments take place electronically.

Cleaning and Disinfecting Requirements

- Photographers should wear a recently washed mask to the greatest extent practicable.
- For in-studio sessions, all high contact areas (e.g. doorknobs or items used to pose in photos) should be sanitized before and after each photo session.
